Farge and Wolf, members of the intermediate class of the Y. M. C. A boxed three fast rounds, the periods being crowded with plenty of action and excitement. Alex Lloyd, wetterweight champion of the state and Anastonolis, a new pupil of Mike Yokel, went on for a wrestling bout which lasted three minutes before Lloyd pinned the young. Channel and Cline, infermediates, staged a fast three-round bout in which knockdowns were frequent. The young sters under Downey's tutclage have learned to box and hit, and their blows have plenty of steam. Cline had the malority of the audience accorded him the Brain and Snelson were exently matched as wrestlers and in sly minutes of mat work neither could secure a fall instructor Mike Yokel and Fred Crabbe, special weight champion of the state, and the exhibition was a beautiful one. Both athletes were the librally applaused of their clever work.

Jaok Downey's boxing instructor, and McDonald, one of his pupils who is looked to as a coming champion in the attac hampionally fournament to be held January 25-27, gave a fast three-round exhibition.

No reference decisions were made in any of the bouts, the applause of the specialors determining the winners.

Series of Novel Contests Won By Liberty Stake Team

A SERIES of novel contests was staged at the Descret gymnasium last high before the largest audience that the beautiful building has ever sheltered. Teams from the Liberty stake and Granite Stake Mutual Improvement association contested in a number of events, and at his core in all but one of the engagements.

Pirst in the list of unusual competition was a "weight" contest. Every individual who entered the gymnasium was listed as either Liberty or Granite and cach one was weighed the side having the greater "tonnage" being judged the winner. Liberty stake won this event and an accompanying credit of twenty-five points, by a margin of two tons.

A squash-rolling, relay race, in which five men from each stake took part was won by Liberty. Each contestant was required to keep one hand behind his back and roll a squash the length of the days of 1847. Spirit, the gymnasium floor. The winning side was credited with five points.

Five young women from each stake took part in a "nall-driving" contest, each driving three nalls, and the Granite representatives proved more proficient in this art, winning the only five points gained by their side.

New York. The ground has been swept from beneath their feet. Heretofore it has been their proud boast that no gangman has been convicted of murder. The system has now toppled—the impossible has come to pass. The four men in the Tombs—shorthy to follow Charles Becker to the death house at Sing Sing—feel that they have been betrayed. Their followers outside are dazed and in confusion.

It was just eighteen weeks ago Tuesday—Tuesday, July 16—that Herman Rosenthal was murdered. Today finds the head and brains of the murder plot under sentence of death in state's prison, and the hands that carried it out on their way to the same fate. It is the speed with which justice has overtaken them that conveys the most useful lesson.

Suppressed Excitement.

Suppressed Excitement.

Over in the Tombs the four gunnien are sparingly of their luncheon. The father of "Lefty Loule," white and hagsard was pacing the corridor outside the courtroom. Knots of rough looking men stood outside on the pavement talking in whispers. Then at 2.05 p. m., came a message from the jury. The verdict was at hand.

By 2:30 all was in readiness, and at 2.35 the four defendants, each of them this time accompanied by a special guard, were led into the police-guarded room. The jury followed three minutes later. Justice Goff took his seat upon the bench. The honk, honk of an automobile out in the street at this minute sent a thrill through the court room. Entering a gray automobile on the night of July 16, just eighteen weeks ago, these four men, now face to face with their judges, had been brought to this. The formalities were soon disposed of, and the way paved for the announcement of the verdict.

It is not necessary longer to forego the pleasure a pipe can give you.

Tuxedo cannot bite the tongue or irritate the throat. The reason for this is that Tuxedo is made of only the mildest, choicest leaves of the highest grade, perfectly aged, Burley tobacco, by the famous "Tuxedo process."

The "Tuxedo process" is a secret, known only to its manufacturers.

It was discovered by Dr. R. A. Patterson, the founder of the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Co., after many years of experiment. Its popularity has never been artificially forced by sensational advertising. The demand has grown naturally and steadily, until now nearly eighty million packages are sold Dispute About Admissibility of Testimony to Be Settled by Court.

Read Fate in Charge.

The gunmen, it is understood, built their hopes on assurances given them by Becker that it would be necessary for the state positively to identify the shooter. Justice Goff disposed of this contention.

There was gloom in the Tombs tonight. In narrow, adjoining cells the four convicted men, stripped of their coats, collars and ties—all the debonaire air of the past few days gone—sat brooding over the verdict.

"They wanted our blood and they've got it" said "Lefty Louis." "It is murder pure and simple. We didn't have a chance."

"What was it that told most against you?" he was asked.

"Justice Goff's charge." was the prompt reply.

"And the lies that Jack Rose told." cried Gyp."

"Gyp" and "Louie" are locked up together. In another cell are Frank and "Whitey." Frank had his suitcases all packed ready to loave, so confident was he of acquittail.

"But after we heard the charge." said Louie, "we threw up our hands and decided it was all off."

For several lights after they returned to their cells the four men raged and WASINGTON, Nov. 19 .- Disagreement today over the admissibility of the tes-timony of Dr. Francis Walker, deputy commissioner of corporations, as to his opinion regarding the fluctuation of iron and steel product prices brought the taking of testimony before Examiner Henry P. Brown in the United States Steel corporation dissolution sult to a temporary poration dissolution suit to a temporary close.

Attorneys for the government and for the steel corporation hastened to Philadelphia to lay the question before the United States circuit court of appeals. The hearing probably will be resumed here Thursday.

Dr. Walker early in the day offered in evidence tables of prices, upon which the bureau of corporations based its reports upon the steel corporation. Attorneys for the corporation, headed by R. V. Lindabury, and C. A. Severance objected to them as hearsay, the witness having testified that they were compiled from market prices printed in trade papers and not from the books of the corporations to which the bureau had access.

The break between the attorneys came f comprehension by anyone except expert statisticians.

The steel corporation attorneys, on the other hand, insist that the opinions given are the very points which the courts must decide, namely, whether the organization of the steel corporation has resulted in a control of prices.

An overcoat and a suit case, only, were reported to the police yesterday as

CHICAGO, Nov 19—A proposal for the consideration of plans to establish public markets, indoor as well as outdoor, as a step toward the reduction of the cost of living was indorsed by the stream of respective shareholders, as follows:

markets, indoor as well as outdoor, as a step toward the reduction of the cost of living, was indorsed by the city council last night.

A resolution authorizing Mayor Harrison to appoint a committee to investigate the feasibility of establishing public "poor man's markets" and make a report to the council, was passed unanimously.

The resolution asserted that the Maxwell street market has been proved to be a success. Street markets under the supervision of the municipal authorities, the resolutions says, have a tendency to "cheapen" the cost of living, make cleanliness and health more possible and bring great henefits and convenience to the densely populated districts of large communities.
